169. On 27 June 2006, lawyers L. Jinsong and L. Subin attempted again to see Y. Weijing (to seek medical parole for Chen Guangcheng), but were also harassed by persons in the village, while the police refused to intervene. Around 20 men turned over their car (while L. Jonsong was still inside) and smashed their cameras. L. Jonsong was then taken to the police station for questioning. He resigned as Chief Counsel for Chen Guancheng's case.

170. On 18 August 2006, the day before C. Guangcheng's trial, his lawyers were detained by police. X. Zhiyong who replaced L. Jinsong was allegedly beaten and taken into police custody and not released until 22 hours later after C. Guangcheng's trial had ended. Similarly, it is alleged that L. Jinsong and another lawyer, Z. Lilhui were detained by police the night before the trial then released after the trial without charge.

171. On 24 August 2006, the Yinan County People's Court convicted C. Guangcheng under article 291 of the Chinese Criminal Code (CCC) for "gathering crowds to disrupt traffic" and "intentional destruction of property". CCC article 291 provides that "[w]here people are gathered to disturb order at railway stations or bus terminals, ferry landings, civil airports, market places, parks, theatres and cinemas, exhibition halls, sports grounds or other public places, or to block traffic or disrupt the movement of traffic, or to resist or obstruct public security officials from carrying out their duties according to law, if the resulting situation is serious, the ringleaders shall be sentenced to fixed-term imprisonment of not more than five years, criminal detention or surveillance." C. Guangcheng was sentenced to four years and three months imprisonment.

172. However, the Linyi City Intermediate People's Court, when reviewing the appeal by C. Guangcheng's lawyers, overturned this verdict on 30 October 2006 on the basis of insufficient evidence for convicting C. Guangcheng for the offence under CCC article 291. Instead of declaring C. Guangcheng to be innocent and releasing him, the Intermediate Court referred the case back to the lower court for re-trial. He continued to be held in detention at the Yinan County Detention Centre.

Response to an allegation letter sent in 2005

173. On 29 December 2005, the Special Rapporteur, jointly with the Special Rapporteur on freedom of religion or belief and the Special Rapporteur on the question of torture, sent an allegation letter concerning Liu Jizhi, aged 51 and Han Yuzhi, aged 42, both of whom are Falun Gong practitioners. According to the information received: On the night of 24 November 2005, Liu Jizhi was abducted by an estimated seven policemen. Her home was ransacked and all Falun Gong materials were seized. She was taken to Dongchengfang Town Police Station in Tunzhou City, Hebei Province, where she was interrogated, beaten with rubber clubs and given electric shocks with stun batons. At approximately 2 p.m. on 25 November 2005, a police officer called He Xuejian took Liu Jizhi to a room, where he lifted her shirt and touched her breasts. He then gave her electric shocks on her breasts with a stun baton. Another police officer called Wang came into the room and encouraged He Xuejian to beat her up. After Wang left the room, He Xuejian raped Liu Jizhi. While raping her, he repeatedly slapped her in the face. He then brought Han Yuzhi into the same room and raped her too. Both rapes took place in the presence of another police officer, Dadjun, who made no attempt to intervene or prevent the incidents.
